Dear Friends and Partners,

As we look forward to 2025, I want to offer my huge and personal thanks to you— Green City Grower's friends, family, partners and colleagues—for being part of a very successful year. We couldn't do it without you.

You and your garden are key spokes in the larger farming network here in New England that GCG has built. That network now includes 153 garden sites! And we are proud to report our gardens grew 59,000 pounds of fresh produce this year. Our mission has always been to make our communities more sustainable, more livable and joyous. Because really, what sparks more joy than the indescribable mystery of working in the garden?

It's been quite a year for us at GCG. We've grown our reach substantially in 2024, with new garden installations that yield more fresh produce, energize hands-on learning, and bring the magic of growing food to more places than ever. Some of this year's highlights include adding hydroponic farms at several Boston Public Schools, planting vibrant gardens at Ellis Early Learning so that even our youngest kids learn about the magic of growing food, and installing flourishing raised beds at Teradyne's corporate campus, where the produce grown on-site goes directly to their corporate cafeteria.

We've trained 26 farmers, and we are pleased to be able to offer our professional farmers a fair wage, employee ownership and point the way to a dependable and rewarding career. By expanding the local pool of trained farmers, we ensure that urban vegetable production will be successful in Massachusetts and move us all towards a more sustainable future.

The conversations we've had, and the connections we've made, show the true power of growing food as a community. Our farmers have enjoyed working with each of you, helping you grow food, and getting inspired by the future of our food system.

It's been a year of optimism and growth for us. Thank you for your continued support as we look ahead to 2025. We are confident that it will be even more exciting as we watch our green community of Urban Gardens grow.

FROM YOUR FARMER:

Hello!

Thank you for another wonderful season at Osborn Triangle! I'm so pleased with how everything went this year and I'm excited to see what abundance next season brings. I have had such a great time growing with the community on site and have loved getting to know the tenants of this community space. I am looking forward to stopping by with the new farmer next season. Have a safe and warm winter!

WHAT YOUR IMPACT MEANS

* POUNDS OF PRODUCE

By growing fresh, organic produce on-site, you're enriching your community's access to healthy food options. The gardens also serve as a powerful example of sustainability, showing that food can be grown anywhere.

182.90 lbs of produce means...

1,463.2

Servings of Veggies

* EXPERIENCES

Gardening provides a space for people to relax, refocus, and connect with nature in a meaningful way.

A survey of our garden program participants revealed that...

65%

experience mental health benefits

74%

feel a sense of community

91%

enhanced their understanding of plants and agriculture
